Things to Know About Electronic Submission

Integrated Programs

Grantsmanship Workshop

Electronic Submission

On November 20, 1999, the President signed Public Law 106-107, the Federal Financial Assistance Management Improvement Act. The purposes of this law are to:

- improve the effectiveness and performance of Federal grant programs
- simplify grant application and reporting requirements
- improve the delivery of services to the public
- facilitate greater coordination among those responsible for delivering such services

CSREES INTEGRATED PROGRAMS

Electronic Submission

Federal granting agencies have worked together to provide a common electronic portal at Grants.gov for grantees to find and apply for grant programs. This option is not specific to each agency, but will allow grantees to use a common system to transact business on all their Federal grants.

CSREES
INTEGRATED PROGRAMS

Electronic Submission

The eGrants initiative is expected to streamline the proposal review and granting process by:

- reducing redundant data entry
- allowing almost immediate transmission of proposals, reviews, awards, reports, and other grant-related items
- improving agency and grantee efficiency through automation of many routine tasks

Electronic Submission

Direct beneficiaries include not only CSREES, but more importantly its diverse grantee community: colleges and universities of all sizes and types, the Cooperative Extension System, other federal agencies, other research institutions, non-profit organizations, and a limited number of individuals.

Electronic Submission

CSREES is continuing to develop its capacity to exchange proposal and grant data electronically with its grantees through Grants.gov and to process, review, and award proposals and grants electronically.

In Fiscal Year (FY) 2006, CSREES offered an electronic application option for select grant programs and partnered with five institutions to use Grants.gov. These pilot activities were successful and provided lessons for applicants and CSREES staff.

Electronic Submission

As a result, for the FY 2007 (October 1, 2006-September 30, 2007) cycle, most CSREES Programs are REQUIRING Electronic Proposal Submission.

FY 2007 Grant Application Changes

Beginning with the FY 2007 (October 1, 2006-September 30, 2007) grants cycle, CSREES will:

- require that all grant applicants use new application forms;
- accept only electronic applications for most programs (see table below); and,
- accept either electronic or paper (to be determined, TBD) applications for a few programs (see table below).

The following resources can assist in the FY 2007 grant application process:

- Resources for Applying Electronically
- Resources for Applying by Paper
- CSREES eGrants Planning

Applicants are encouraged to return periodically to this page for updated information on the CSREES grant application process.

Tips for Preparing Your Electronic Application

- Before preparing your application, we strongly recommend confirming that your institution is registered with Grants.gov, which can take up to 1 month to complete. Grants.gov registration is required before submitting an electronic application. [see FAQ]
- Pure Edge Viewer software is required to download, complete, and submit application packages via Grants.gov. Special instructions are available for Macintosh users. [see FAQ]
- ALL of the following MUST be used to prepare an electronic application:
  - the relevant Request for Applications (RFA) from the CSREES Web site,
  - the CSREES Grants.gov Application Guide,
  - the electronic SF-424 R&R application package (available through a link on the relevant CSREES Funding Opportunity page).
- Two data issues are critical to correctly submit and route an application:
  - verify the pre-populated Funding Opportunity Name and Number,
  - and enter the Program Code Name and Program Code exactly as instructed in the RFA. [see FAQ]
- ALL attachments MUST be submitted in portable document format (PDF). Files not in PDF format will not be made available for review. [see FAQ]
- Save your electronic application in the Grant Application Package screen when working in Pure Edge Viewer. Refer to the Grants.gov Application Guide for details.

Frequently Asked Questions for submitting through Grants.gov

- Preparing an Application

Preparing to Apply

Q—Do I have to register with Grants.gov before submitting an application through Grants.gov?

A—Yes. And before preparing an application, we strongly recommend that you confirm that your institution is registered with Grants.gov. If your institution has a grants office, they should be able to confirm your institution's registration status. For more information on registration requirements, please visit the Register page.

Q—How long does the registration process take?

A—The entire registration process can take up to 1 month to complete.

Q—Does CSREES require any agency specific registration in addition to the required Grants.gov registration?

A—No. CSREES requires no separate registration beyond the Grants.gov registration.

Q—What is involved in the Grants.gov registration process?

A—Applicant organizations need to complete a one-time only registration process for Grants.gov that includes obtaining a Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number, registering in Central Contractor Registry (CCR) and registering in Grants.gov. Details for Grants.gov registration can be found at the Grants.gov Get started web page.

Please note that this is a one-time only registration for all Federal agencies using Grants.gov. So if your organization has already completed the Grants.gov registration process to submit electronically for another Federal agency, a separate Grant.gov registration is not necessary for CSREES submissions.

Q—Part of the Grants.gov process is registering in the Central Contractor Registry (CCR). What is the CCR and how does an applicant organization know if they have successfully registered in the CCR?

A—(For details, go to the CCR Register section of the Grants.gov site). Grants.gov requires that applicant organizations obtain a DUNS number and register with the CCR. CCR is a government-wide registry for vendors doing business with the Federal government. Grants.gov uses CCR to establish roles and IDs for those electronically applying for grants. In the future, the government anticipates requiring all grant applicants to use CCR whether applying for grants electronically or otherwise. To register in CCR, one needs a DUNS number.
To register in CCR:

National Research Initiative Competitive Grants Program

National Research Initiative (NRI) Competitive Grants Program for fiscal year (FY) 2007 supports (1) high priority fundamental and mission-linked research of importance in the biological, environmental, physical, and social sciences relevant to agriculture, food, and the environment and (2) competitively awarded research, extension, and education grants addressing key issues of national and regional importance to agriculture, forestry, and related topics. In FY 2007, CSREES anticipates that approximately $181 million will be available for support of this program and that of this amount, no more than 22 percent will be made available to fund integrated projects. The remaining funds will be used to fund research projects.

CONFIRMATION

Thank you for submitting your grant application package via Grants.gov. Your application is currently being processed by the Grants.gov system. Once your submission has been processed, Grants.gov will send email messages to advise you of the progress of your application through the system. Over the next 24 to 48 hours, you should receive two emails. The first will confirm receipt of your application by the Grants.gov system, and the second will indicate that the application has either been successfully validated by the system prior to transmission to the grantor agency or has been rejected due to errors.

Please do not hit the back button on your browser.

If your application is successfully validated and subsequently retrieved by the grantor agency from the Grants.gov system, you will receive an additional email. This email may be delivered several days or weeks from the date of submission, depending on when the grantor agency retrieves it.

You may also monitor the processing status of your submission within the Grants.gov system by using the following steps:

1. Go to http://www.grants.gov
2. Click on the "Applicants" link at the top of the Grants.gov home page
3. Login to the system using your AOR user id and password
4. Click on the "Application Status" link at the left of your screen.

Note that once the grantor agency has retrieved your application from Grants.g

Administrative Review

After Grants.gov validation, applications will be allowed for administrative review for approval. E-mail notification

Reasons for “Not Approved”:

- Submitted past deadline
- Nonconformance to PDF requirements
- Obvious formatting violations
- Exceed budget limits

CSREES INTEGRATED PROGRAMS

Peer Review

Once applications are approved for agency admittance, applications will be reviewed for acceptance for Peer Review.

E-mail notification

Reasons for “Not Accepted”:

- Does not address program priorities or program relevance
- Additional formatting or budgetary violations

Questions

If an applicant has not received an acknowledgment within 30 days of the submission deadline, the applicant must contact the Agency contact immediately and ask for the application number assigned to the application.

Failure to do so may result in the application not being considered for funding by the peer review panel.
